Hybrid Winter Squash: Ultra and Ultra HP

Both Ultra and Ultra HP are recommended only for processing for pumpkin pie, baby food or other pumpkin product, or for home gardening, not for fresh market as butternut. Hollar Seeds has sold thousands of pounds of seed of these varieties to satisfied processing customers. Under some circumstances, notably short day length, fruit size can be reduced enough to allow a percentage of the fruit to be used for fresh market, but we do not recommend that.

WAIVER AND RELEASE AGREEMENT

The previous paragraphs are not to be construed in any way as a warranty, express or implied, including warranty of merchantability or fitness for any purpose of the seeds.

Risks associated with growing Ultra and Ultra HP hybrid squash include a high percentage of fruit that differ from the norm, fluctuation of fruit weight from field to field, fruit shaped oddly such that they are not usable either for fresh market or processing, presence of Bacterial Fruit Blotch (BFB) bacteria on the seed, fluctuation of fruit shape depending on chemicals used, and others.
